Biographical notes

Rolando Tarquini is an Italian clown, playwright, director and theater actor. He was born in Bolzano on November 18, 1961, second son, after Cristina, of Ubaldo and Delfina. He currently lives in Piacenza. He graduated from the Respighi Scientific High School in Piacenza in 1981. He is particularly passionate about "new media" and theatrical pedagogy. He trained in the Lecoq method, between 1988 and 1990 at the School of Theater of Mimodrama Teatro Arsenale, in Milan, directed by Marina Spreafico and Kuniaki Ida. Between 1999 and 2000 he deepened his theatrical training following some contemporary masters and playwrights including Dimitri, Alessandro Marchetti, Gabriella Ravazzi, Gaetano Sansone, Hector Malamud, Danio Manfredini, Giorgio Rossi, Yves Lebreton, Eugenio Barba. In 1998 he participated in the I.S.T.A. (International School of Theater Anthropology) of Odin Teatret in Montemor-o-Novo, Portugal. Before devoting himself professionally to the clown, the circus and the theater, he worked for over 10 years with some well-known software companies on the national and international scene, the "Etnoteam" and the "I.NET" of Milan, mainly dealing with "Quality Control" and "Software Engineering" by approaching the world of programming languages with the Fortran language, the C language, the C++ language, the UNIX, Linux and Microsoft operating systems. In 1985, with Mauro Mozzani, Filippo Arcelloni and Franco Sartori, he founded the theater company Manicomics Teatro of which he is still a member and with which he leads performances, organization and workshops. For Manicomics Teatro he is co-director of the "Lultimaprovincia" festival theater in Piacenza and takes care of the artistic direction of the theatrical clown and contemporary circus season "Rido Sogno e Volo" in the Open Space Theater 360° in Piacenza since 2018 and of the event- "Stralunà" event, contemporary circus events. As an author and actor, with the Manicomics Teatro company, since 1985 he has been producing clown, contemporary and theatrical circus shows and theatrical pedagogy training courses and takes part in numerous festivals in Italy and abroad (France, Portugal, Spain, Holland, Soviet Union, Poland, Germany, Switzerland, Belgium, Argentina, Brazil, Israel, Algeria). From 1997 to 2013 he collaborated permanently with the National Theater Review of the School of Serra San Quirico (AN) and with the Youth Theater Association as artistic director. In the context of Theater Education and theater pedagogy in the social sphere, he has collaborated and also collaborates with various realities in Italy and abroad. The activity of clown and theater pedagogue, in the professional field and in "non-theatrical" places, has accompanied Rolando Tarquini's journey from the beginning. In 2000 he began his collaboration with Daniele Finzi Pasca and the Sunil Theater with the co-production of the show "Brutta Canaglia La Solitudine", written and directed by Daniele Finzi Pasca and interpreted by Mauro Mozzani and Rolando Tarquini. In 2003 he was one of the winners of the "Premio Fersen" for the promotion and dissemination of contemporary Italian drama with the writing of the monologue "D'IO" published by Editoria & Spettacolo in the volume "Il Premio Fersen 2003 - First Edition". On 16 October 2010 he married Allegra Spernanzoni, actress and artist, also a member of Manicomics Teatro and mother of Clizia and Leonardo. In 2010 he founded, with Allegra Spernanzoni, "Codici Ritmici", an agency for artistic experimentation. Since 2012 he has been collaborating permanently with Daniele Finzi Pasca's Compagnia Finzi Pasca for the company's shows. In particular, since 2010, he has been an integral part and actor in the shows "Donka, a letter to Checkov", "The truth", "For You", Abrazos, "Einstein on the Beach" (opera). In 2014 he participated in the opening ceremony of the Paralympic Games in Sochi as assistant to the creation of the director Daniele Finzi Pasca. He conducts frequent workshops on clown and actor training. In particular following the courses: "The eccentric body" (since 1999) on the comic and poetic language of the clown; "The grotesque body" (from 2008) which has the figure of the grotesque in art as its center of work; "The eccentric actor" (from 2015) which collects his methodology of acting work; "Thieves and Observers, or the theft of the actor".
